These key word transformations test grammar, vocabulary and collocation. C1 Advanced was designed to allow learners to gain certification for advanced levels of English suitable for use in academic and professional life and was developed using a socio-cognitive approach – that is, it encourages languages skills for use in real-life situations.[3] Following the launch of the exam, the qualification has been continuously updated to reflect changes in language teaching and assessment. The following scores are used to report results: Grade Cambridge English Scale Score (160–210) CEFR Level A 200–210 C2 B 193–199 C1 C 180–192 C1 CEFR Level B2 160–179 B2 Scores between 142 and 159 are also reported on the Statement of Results but candidates will not receive a certificate. Successful candidates (those scoring above 160 on the Cambridge English Scale) will receive a hard copy certificate within three months of the exam. Candidates are expected to demonstrate a wide range of listening skills needed for real-life purposes, such as understanding the gist of an extract, understanding specific information or the speakers' opinion, attitude or feeling. One examiner acts as interlocutor and assessor, interacting with the candidates and managing the test. Candidates speak alone (monologue), with the interlocutor, and with the other candidate. All candidates (pre- and post-2015) receive a Statement of Results, with those scoring high enough also receiving a certificate.[7] Scoring from January 2015 From 2015, the Statement of Results and the Certificate have the following information about the candidate's performance: A score on the Cambridge English Scale for each skill (Reading, Writing, Listening and Speaking) and for Use of English A score on the Cambridge English Scale for the overall exam A grade (A, B, C, Level B2) for the overall exam A CEFR level for the overall exam.[8] The certificate also contains the UK National Qualifications Framework (NQF) level.[9] The candidate's overall score is averaged from the individual scores for each skill (Reading, Writing, Listening and Speaking) and for Use of English. Reading and Use of English (1 hour 30 minutes) The Reading and Use of English paper has eight parts and 56 questions. Timing and results Candidates take the Reading and Use of English, Writing and Listening papers on the same day. Each Cambridge English Qualification targets a particular level of the CEFR, working together with the objective to create an effective learning journey.[2] History C1 Advanced (previously known as the Certificate in Advanced English (CAE) and Cambridge English: Advanced), was developed in response to feedback from language centres that there was too great a gap between the qualifications now known as B2 First and C2 Proficiency. C1 Advanced is targeted at CEFR Level C1, but also provides reliable assessment at the level above C1 (Level C2) and the level below (B2). ^ "Cambridge English exams for UK visas and immigration | Cambridge English". A directory of all global exam centres and their contact details can be accessed on the Cambridge Assessment English website.[10] Successful candidates receive two documents: a Statement of Results and a Certificate. ^ "Cambridge English Scale results reporting | Cambridge English". Scoring pre-2015 Pre-2015, the Statement of Results had the following information, reflecting the total combined score from all four papers: A grade (A, B, C, Level B2) for the overall exam A score (out of 100) for the overall exam A CEFR level for the overall exam. Grade Score (total mark of 100) CEFR Level A 80–100 C2 B 75–79 C1 C 60–74 C1 CEFR Level B2 45–59 B2 Pre-2015, the Statement of Results also had a Candidate Profile, which showed the candidate's performance on each of the individual papers against the following scale: exceptional, good, borderline and weak. Candidates have the choice of taking the Reading and Use of English paper, Writing paper and Listening paper on either a computer or on paper.[6] 1. The most recent updates took place in 2015. These might include writing a letter, proposal, report or review. External links Official website Retrieved from " Each question in Part 4 has a sentence and a 'key' word, which must be used to complete a second sentence so that it has the same meaning as the first sentence. It is designed to demonstrate that a candidate has achieved a high level of English ability which can be used in academic and professional contexts.[12] C1 Advanced is accepted globally by over 6,000 institutions.[13] Many higher education institutions accept C1 Advanced for admission purposes. Candidates are expected to demonstrate a range of speaking skills such as pronunciation, intonation, initiation and maintaining of a discussion, ability to organise thoughts and use of appropriate grammar and vocabulary. Part 8 has a text or several short texts and a series of multiple-matching questions, with candidates expected to demonstrate reading for specific information, detail, opinion and attitude. Please discuss further on the talk page. For example, C1 Advanced certifies at B2, C1 and C2 levels – the language levels needed for study and work; IELTS is designed to test a much broader range of language levels, from CEFR Level A1 up to C2.[24] Preparation A comprehensive list of authorised exam centres can be found on the Cambridge Assessment English website.[10] Free preparation materials, such as sample tests, are available from the website for C1 Advanced.[25] There is also a wide range of official support materials,[26] jointly developed by Cambridge Assessment English and Cambridge University Press. In the third part the candidates are given some pictures and a task; they are expected to discuss the task, exchange ideas and reach a decision through negotiation. Recordings take the form of lectures, talks, interviews, speeches and radio broadcasts. 4. However, there are some subtle differences between these two exams. The main differences are: the overall exam is now 45 minutes shorter; there are four exam papers, instead of five; the Reading and Use of English papers have been combined into a single paper, and there are some new testing focuses and task types. C1 Advanced looks to prove high-level achievement in English, and is designed for learners preparing for university or professional life. The first part involves a brief exchange between each candidate and the interlocutor. 3. The interlocutor directs the interaction by asking questions which encourage the candidates to discuss issues in more depth than in earlier parts of the test. The second part involves each candidate talking in turn, on their own, about a set of pictures. Part 6 has four short texts and cross-text multiple-matching questions, with candidates expected to understand and compare opinions and attitudes across texts. 2. The paper contains texts totalling approximately 3,000 to 3,500 words and candidates are expected to be able to understand texts taken from a range of sources such as short stories, novels, magazines, newspapers and internet articles. Speaking (15 minutes) The Speaking test is taken face-to-face (including in the computer-based version of the exam) and the standard format is two candidates and two examiners. The other acts as assessor and does not join in the conversation. The paper-based exam and computer-based exam are offered at test centres throughout the calendar year. Further information can be found in the revised Exam Specification.[4] Format C1 Advanced is made up of four the exam papers, which cover all the key language skills (Reading and Use of Language, Writing, Listening and Speaking).[5] The Speaking paper is taken face-to-face. This is because candidates who need to apply for a visa to study at degree level or above at a Tier 4 Sponsor only need to meet the English language requirements set by the university; they don't need to take a test from the UKVI list of Secure English Language Tests (SELT tests).[17] In some countries, students with a C1 Advanced certificate gain exemption from the English components of school-leaving exams.[18][19][20] C1 Advanced can be used for visa purposes, with recognition by the Australian Department of Immigration and Border Protection (DIBP, formerly DIAC) for student visas.[21] DIBP has extended the recognition of C1 Advanced and they will now accept scores in the exam for Temporary Graduate, Skilled, Former Resident, and Work and Holiday visa.[22] C1 Advanced is also recognised by global employers, such as Accenture, Adecco, Airbus, American Express, AstraZeneca, Bayer, Boehringer Ingelheim, Bosch, Citibank, Credit Suisse, Dell, Deloitte, Deutsche Bank, DHL, Ericsson, Ernst & Young, Estée Lauder, HSBC, IBM, KPMG, Lufthansa, Manpower, McKinsey & Company, Merrill Lynch, Motorola, Nestlé, Nokia, OMEGA, Orange, PricewaterhouseCoopers, Reckitt Benckiser, Reuters, Saint-Gobain and Sony.[23] Many institutions accept more than one English language exam, e.g. C1 Advanced and IELTS. An online Statement of Results is available to candidates who have sat the computer-based exam two weeks after the exam and to candidates of the paper-based exam approximately four weeks after the exam. It is focused on Level C1 of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR).[1] C1 Advanced is one of the examinations in Cambridge English Qualifications – a path for improving language skills. Pre-2015, candidates who achieved a score of 45 or more (out of 100) received a certificate. The first part is compulsory and involves writing an essay in response to an input text. Scoring In January 2015, Cambridge English Scale scores replaced the candidate profile and standardised scores used for pre-2015 results. Parts 1 to 3 involve completing gaps in a text (i.e. choosing/forming the correct word for each gap). The input texts might include articles, leaflets, notices and formal or informal letters. ^ Retrieved 15 March 2018 ^ "Accessed 16 March 2018" (PDF). ^ "Accessed 16 March 2018" (PDF).
